GOP WORKS ON LEADER BUDGET

Weiss Being Considered By County Democrats As Judgeship Candidate

Attorney David H. Weiss of Monessen is being seriously considered by Westmoreland County Democratic leaders as a possible party nominee for a common pleas judgeship vacancy created by the death of Judge George H. McWherter.

The Daily Independent was reliably informed today that Weiss is an active candidate and has considerable support although the matter is far from settled.

The Democratic and Republican county committees will each choose a candidate for the vacancy. On the November general election ballots these designees will be listed with the two candidates for judge nominated by party voters in last week's primary.

Of the six candidates, three will be elected in November.

Others Mentioned

Nominated at the primary were Judge Edward G. Bauer and District Attorney L. Alexander Sculco. Democrats and Robert H. Rial and Avra N. Pershing Jr., Republicans.

A source close to the Democratic courthouse organization told The Independent that, besides Weiss, the party leaders are considering Attorney John K. Best, of Jeannette, and Vincent R. Williams, of Greensburg.

Weiss and Best are both assistants in Sculco's office and Williams is a former county solicitor.

The same source discounted the possibility that the organization would designate Joseph M. Loughran for the McWherter vacancy. Loughran gave Judge Bauer and Sculco a hard fight in the primary.

Among the more interesting of the numerous rumors which crop up daily in Greensburg in connection with the judgeship situation was one to the effect that the Democrats might give their third nomination to Pershing.

This would be tantamount to electing one of the Republican candidates and — so goes the theory behind the rumor — make things easier for Bauer and Sculco in November.

GOP Mentioned

Pershing was asked about this report today and said he hadn't even heard it. He indicated that he doubted it would be in the realm of possibility, although is is known to have considerable Democratic support.

The names of Attorneys Daniel J. Snyder Jr., and Robert Mitinger, both of Greensburg, are being mentioned most frequently as possibilities for the Republican resignation for the McWherter vacancy.

Snyder, who is treasurer of the GOP county committee and son of a former orphans' court judge, probably could have the nomination for the asking. But friends are inclined to feel that it would take considerable talking to get him to accept it.

To matcn the rumor involving Pershing with the Democratic des-

Webster Girl in 'Good' Condition After Accident

Patty Paradise, 7, of Webster, is in "good" condition in Charleroi-Monessen Hospital today following injuries received shortly after noon yesterday when she was struck by an auto on Route 906 about three miles north of Monessen, State Police said.

She is suffering from body bruises and shock, according to hospital reports.

The girl, it was said, ran onto the highway in front of an auto driven by H. W. Kurtz, Jr., of Pittsburgh.

In another accident yesterday, one persons was hospitalized and two others slightly injured when two cars collided on Route 51 about five miles south of Elizabeth, police stated.

Police said cars operated by Henry Livingston, 37, of Dawson, and Eva L. Volk, of R. D. 1, Belle Vernon, crashed at an intersection of Route 51 and a side road.

Livingston was admitted to Charleroi-Monessen Hospital suffering lacerations of the head, back injuries and possible concussion.

Eva L. Volk and her mother, Eva V. Volk, also of Belle Vernon, suffered bruises but were not treated.

Leader Okays Stiffening of Motor Laws

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader has approved a bill doubling financial responsibility for motorists involved in accidents resulting in bodily injury or death.

Under the Motor Vehicle Safety Responsibility Act, proof of financial responsibility is required of persons when they fail within a specified period of time to satisfy judgements against them arising out of motor vehicle accidents.

Proof of financial responsibility may also be required by the state revenue secretary where persons have been convicted of violating specific provisions of the Motor Vehicle Code.

The new amendments to the act increase the amount of financial responsibility from 5,000 to $10,000 for bodily injury or death to one person in any one accident; from $10,000 to $20,000 for injury or death to two or more persons in any one accident, and $1,000 to $5,000 for injury to or destruction of property of others in any one accident.

Girl, Friend Found Dead

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa. (UP) —Bodies of a teenage girl, who apparently was strangled by an electric cord and a young man slain by a shotgun blast were found today at their homes here.

Police said members of her family found the body of Judy Barber, 19, lying in the hallway of her home with a section of cord from an electric sweeper entwined around her throat.

At almost the same time, the body of Theodore Fordney, 29, was discovered in the back yard of his home. First reports said his head was blown off by a shotgun blast.

Authorities said Miss Barber and Fordney were friends and police were investigating on the theory the slayings were murder and suicide.

Glenn Chew Is Named to Steel Policy Group

The outcome of an election held during the annual convention of District 13, United Steelworkers (AFL-CIO), in Uniontown last week showed Glenn Chew, president of Monessen Page Local 4384, Clerical Workers, as one of two elected in the six-man race for positions on the wage policy committee.

The other winner, according to results made public today, was Sam Collis, of Jessop Steel Co. Local, Washington, Pa.

Chew and Collis won over Anthony Ottolona, president of Monessen Pittsburgh Steel Local 1229; Hugh Jones, president of Allenport Pittsburgh Steel Local 1187; Steve Piscour, president of Donora American Steel & Wire Local 1758, and John Stanko, president of Canonsburg Fort Pitt Bridge Local.

The policy committee will represent the district's 56 locals in the planning of future contracts with the steel industry. The committee will serve until 1959, when the present three-year contract expires, a spokesman for the district said today.

District 13 is comprised of steel making areas of Monessen, Johnstown and Altoona.

Library Staff Member Honored At Dinner Here

Mrs. Ray Ashe, who has been a member of the staff of the Monessen Public Library for 16 years, was honored by the board of directors at a dinner at Johnson's Restaurant last night.

Mrs. Ashe is moving to Alexandria, Va., this weekend to make her home with her son.

Thirteen of the Library's 15 directors were present to pay personal tributes to Mrs. Ashe for her devoted service, which included over two years as acting librarian.

Other members of the Library staff also were guests of the directors. They are Vivian L. Drake, the librarian, Mildred Chalfant and Mrs. James A. Johnston.

"I love the Library and have always been proud of it," Mrs. Ashe said in response to the tributes. "But I feel that others deserve far more credit for its growth than I."

Mrs. Ashe, who is a native of Monessen, said she will miss the community as well as the Library.

At the conclusion of the talks, President Charles C. Throop presented Mrs. Ashe with an electric lamp as a farewell gift from the directors.

STREETCAR RAILS BEING REMOVED — Workmen yesterday began work on eliminating an old "eyesore" in North Belle Vernon. The workers are in the process of tearing up 3,300 feet of streetcar rails abandoned since 1933. The work is being done by the Charleroi Iron and Scrap Co., at a cost of 60-cents per foot of rail. When this phase is completed in about 45 days, the state Highways Department will move in and pave the uprooted section. This picture was taken near Broad Ave. and Jean St.

Long-delayed Nuclear Test Fired for Foreign Newsmen

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev. (UP)—The United States today fired the first of a long series of atomic test blasts amidst a world atmosphere of disarmament talks and controversy over radiation effects of humans.

The "cattle-sized" nuclear device was touched off in the predawn darkness of the Nevada proving grounds this morning—the 65th detonation in the United States program of nuclear and thermonuclear "peace-lines - in strength" weapons testing.

Foreign newsmen for the first time had a "ring-side seat" at an American atomic experimental blast as the Atomic Energy Commission scientists finally found in the 13th day of waiting the combination of wind and weather conditions that fit their pattern of radiation safety factors.

The top-secret device was set off atop a 500-foot steel tower on Yucca Flat at 4:55 a.m. pdt., 13 days behind schedule because the AEC, hypersensitive to continued criticism of radiation fallout, had to wait out the weather.

Silent as Usual

Although scientists and the military remained silent as usual as to the exact nature of the device it was believed by veteran atomic test observers to be another in the family of atomic warheads the United States has been developing for small rockets or missiles.

With a calculated yield of 10 kilotons, roughly equal in force to 10,000 tons of TNT, the device flashed 100 times brighter than the sun. It was equivalent to about half the explosive violence of either of the bombs dropped on Hiroshima and Nagasaki toward the end of World War II.

The atomic cloud bearing radiation climbed rapidly to the six-mile level and spread out, heading eastward. Pilots flying within 150 miles of Caliente, Nev., east of Las Vegas, Nev., were advised to contact the nearest CAA tower.

Shirley Faces Charges Today; To Stay Silent

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Shirley Cavanaugh, Pittsburgh night life figure, will decline to testify today when called before a magistrate to answer charges growing out of the shooting of a city detective in an after hours drinking club.

Counsel for Shirley, John V. Snee, said he had advised his client not to appear as a witness at her hearing on felonious shooting charges.

The victim, Acting Det. Alex Carnahan, now under suspension pending a Police Trial Board hearing, will testify that he was shot accidentally last Feb. 24 according to his attorney, Louis Glasso.

Following his wounding, the police officer said he had shot himself; then named Shirley as the gun wielder, and finally, said the gun discharged accidentally as they struggled for the weapon.

The shooting touched off a full-scale investigation of the handling of the case which resulting in department charges of conduct unbecoming an officer being filed against Carnahan, and reprimands issued to Police Supt. James Slusser, Ass. Supt. Lawrence Mahoney, Asst. Supt. Adam Gessler and Capt. George Purvis.

School Board to Take Action on Budget Tonight

The Monessen School Board will meet tonight to take action on two major proposals — the 1957-58 school budget and a $275,000 bond issue.

The proposed budget calls for a tax increase of three mills, boosting the present 16-mill rate to 19 mills.

The budget also calls for expenditures of $1,122,083.50, an increase of $112,247.35 over the current budget of $989,836.25.

Supt. Joseph Pallone said the three mill increase, which will amount to $98,215.47 in additional revenue, is needed to meet state-mandated salary increases for teachers, higher operating costs and debts and fixed charges.

The board will also meet to take action on a proposed $275,000 bond issue needed to pay off an accumulation of back debts, some of which date back to 1951.

The meeting will be held in the superintendent's office in the high school beginning at 8 p. m. It is open to the public.

Millions Slashed As Democrats Fight to Finish

HARRISBURG (UP) — The Republicans were expected to flax their legislative muscles in the House today and vote down Democratic attempts to restore some of the $94,500,000 slashed from Gov. George M. Leader's budget.

House Majority Leader Albert W. Johnson (R-McKean) said the Republican caucus endorsed the series of 63 appropriation bills "with three or four exceptions" to offer a nearly united front to withstand amendments. The package, including the general appropriation bill, totals $1,385,323,031.

Johnson said only non-controversial appropriation bills would be passed to the state Senate today. The majority of the day was set aside for the offering of Democratic amendments and floor debate on other money bills.

The Democratic minority, outmanned 83 to 126, planned to propose two dozen amendments alone to the GOP's $1,107,307,466 General Fund budget. The Republicans planned final passage of the General Appropriation Bill and all legislation allocating money for state-aided institutions Wednesday.

The House GOP, holding a comfortable majority, expressed little concern over the fate of their version of Leader's original budget. GOP leaders said while the Democrats could have their "day in court" to propose amendments, the Republicans would vote them down and the bills would be sent to the Senate for action early next month.

The appropriation bills plus a 31 million dollar school subsidy program and 82 million dollars for an estimated Commonwealth deficit May 31 encompass the Republicans $1,500,000,000 fiscal blueprint to finance the state for another two years.

The main battleground to hold the line of drastic GOP budget cuts was expected to develop in the Senate where the GOP holds a slender 27-23 majority.

Make New Cuts

House Republicans also dealt two other blows to Leader's budget. Appropriations Committee Chairman Norman Wood (R-Lancaster) sponsored legislation to give $1,300,000 for housing and redevelopment assistance. The governor asked for five million dollars and included slum clearance in a list of five areas where public hearings should be held when he learned of the GOP slash of funds.

Johnson announced the latest cut one million dollars out of funds for social security for state employes. He said the GOP chipped the appropriation to $4,500,000 to fit the school subsidy program into their budget blueprint. The governor had asked for $5,600,000.

In other developments, the House concurred with Senate amendments setting up machinery for a statewide referendum on annual sessions of the Legislature. The chamber voted 185-1 to accept the bill with only Rep. William B. Smith (D-Beaver) opposing. The Senate changes specify passage of only revenue or appropriation bills during even numbered years. The legislation must

State Considering Smoke Commission

HARRISBURG (UP) — The state Legislature today considered air pollution throughout Pennsylvania.

A bill introduced Monday by Sen. John Carl Miller (D-Beaver) would set up a three-member commision in the state Health Department to formulate and enforce rules regarding air pollution.

The commission would operate through Smoke Control Boards set up in counties at the request of county authorities, with certain police powers to enforce the regulations.

PRR Furloughs 800 Employes; Business Drop

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — The Pennsylvania Railroad will furlough 750 to 800 maintenance employes, effective June 1, it was announced Monday.

A. J. Greenough, vice president, transportation and maintenance, said the layoffs were due to a 10 per cent drop in PRR freight business and delays in increases in freight rates.

"Due to the fall off in business, we will have to furlough approximately 750 to 800 shop workers over the system," Greenough said. "This will include approximately 450 men at the Altoona, (Pa.) shops with proportionate reductions at other points on the railroad."

He added that the "force of transportation and other employes will, of course, be adjusted by employing officers to the needs of the service."

"Reductions in the number of employes are always regrettable, but in a strictly regulated business such as ours, the margin between income and outgo is so small that when business sharply declines we have no alternative but to cut expenses, a large part of which is wages," Greenough said.

Fate of Kinzua Dam Project to Come This Week

WASHINGTON (UP) — The fate of a proposed, big flood control project at Kinzua, Pa., may be decided this week.

Rep. Clarence Cannon (D-Mo.) said Monday the House Public Works subcommittee starts work this week on an omnibus public works bill and may act on a million - dollar budget request to start construction of the dam and reservoir on the Allegheny River near Warren.

The Kinzua project is one of many the subcommittee is considering. Cannon would not predict whether the Kinzua item would be approved or killed.

Cannon heads both the committee and the subcommittee.

Supporters and opponents of the Kinzua project argued their cases before the subcommittee at hearings earlier this month. Chief opposition to the project came from the Seneca Indian nation, whose reservation would be affected.

CHAMBER OFFICIALS ACCEPT AWARD — Dr. J. Karl Beery, center, 1956 president of the Monessen Chamber of Commerce, and Charles W. Monessen finished third in the contest for communities with populations between 10,000 and 25,000. The third place award was $750 from the state Chamber and a matching $750 from the West Penn Power Co. The awards, which included a certificate of merit, were presented in Harrisburg.

HARRISBURG (UP) — Hill Station Water Co., Fredericktown, has asked Public Utility Commission approval of a 20 per cent rate increase for 226 consumers in Cecil Twp., Washington County.

The increase, which would increase revenues by approximately $2,100 annually, would go into effect July 26 if authorized by the commission.

The company said additional revenue is needed to meet higher operating costs and help eliminate losses.

Ike Makes Gains in Battle of the Budget

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower today made some gains in the battle of the budget, but he still had a long way to go.

The President's principal gain came in the House where GOP leaders lined up strong support behind moves to restore 323 million dollars to the pared-down defense budget.

But that is only 25 per cent of the money Eisenhower has said must be restored in order not to gamble with the nation's security. And GOP leaders said Eisenhower has been told there is no chance of getting that much restored.

Republican congressional leaders headed for the White House this morning for their weekly strategy meeting with the President. They were certain to report to him that:

--Economy minded senators are backing the Eisenhower 875 million dollar housing bill in preference to the Democrats' $2,850,000,000 bill. One influential senator said the Eisenhower bill has a good chance of Senate approval. The House already has approved a $2,475,000,000 housing bill.

—Senate - House conferees restored six million dollars to the battered budget of the U.S. Information Agency. The compromise $96,200,000 budget—$47,800,000 less than Eisenhower requested—was sent back to the House and Senate for final approval.

—Religious leaders began an extraordinary three-day appeal to Congress to spare economic aid for foreign nations. Protestant, Catholic and Jewish spokesmen planned to appear at a special hearing of the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

FLOOD CHASES THOUSANDS IN FORT WORTH AREA — Thousands were evacuated in the Fort Worth, Tex., area when this flood surged through. This is Sunset Acres residential area.

Storms Continue To Hit Southwest; Many Homeless

By UNITED PRESS

Cloudbursts continued to pepper flood - stricken sections of the Southwest today, where about 7,000 persons have been forced from their homes.

At least two deaths were blamed on the swirling waters from flash floods in Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Missouri.

More than 6,000 persons driven from their homes at Dallas and Fort Worth during the weekend remained in temporary shelters as the Trinity River continued its rampage.

Up to 10½ inches of rain flooded the little town of Sabinal, Tex., west of San Antonio, Monday, and about 7 inches fell at Wellman, southwest of Lubbock.

A 4.31-inch deluge at San Antonio touched off flash floods that forced some 200 persons to flee their homes. At least 12 persons trapped in their homes by the sudden floods were rescued by police.

Senate amendments to legislation changing the residence requirement for state voters from six months to one year was turned down. It will go to a joint Senate-House conference committee for compromise along with a bill spelling out procedures for the state's 47 third class cities for codification of ordinances.

Meanwhile, Senate Republican and Democratic leaders agreed to confer on legislation aimed at establishing a legislative check on administration spending. The chamber has several bills hanging to restrict spending, set up "watchdog commissions" and require quarterly budgets.

Suspect Admits to Huntingdon Attack

HUNTINGDON, W. Va. (UP)—A paroled convict charged with the hammer-murder of a building contractor's wife already had been arrested on a robbery charge before the battered body of Mrs. Ruby Miller was discovered here Monday night.

Detective Chief Herman Frazier said today the suspect, David Bruner, 40, had admitted attacking Mrs. Miller when she surprised him ransacking her expensively furnished home earlier in the afternoon.

A neighbor, Mrs. D. G. Crawford, discovered the slaying after the victim's husband, J. E. Miller, arrived home and found his home ransacked. Believing his wife was out with her car, Miller had gone to the Crawford home to telephone police.

Mrs. Crawford returned with him to inspect the damage and found Mrs. Miller's body lying beneath a pile of clothing on a blood-stained bed in a guest room.

Acting coroner R.R. Dennis said Mrs. Miller had been dead about two to four hours before her body was found, shortly after 7 p.m. He said she had been beaten on the head, a stocking was tightened around her neck, and her eyes had been covered with adhesive tape.

Police had been searching for Bruner since the widow of a prominent local attorney reported last week she was forced at gunpoint to write a check for a man who entered her home and tied her with a stocking. Having matched her description of the assailant with Bruner, police received a tip to his whereabouts Monday afternoon and arrested him.

The kickoff shot of the 20 nuclear tests to be staged during the series, today's pre - dawn blast presented a fearsome spectacle although it was a relatively small one in the family of fission explosions.

For a few fascinating seconds darkness became day, as if some giant floodlight had been flicked quickly on and then off in the sky overhead.

The detonation itself thundered like the roar of a monster cannon and the first shock wave reached News Nob, 11 miles distant, about one minute after the flash. No heat was felt by newsmen.

The fireball, about 900 feet in diameter, burned with a temperature approaching one million degrees centigrade, capable of melting steel girders. It was prevented from touching the ground, and sucking up dust, by the height of the tower, thus reducing to a minimum the possible radioactive fallout from the atomic cloud. The tower vaporized in the blinding flash.

ignation was another that had Loughran being considered by the Republicans. This would be on the theory that an independent Democrat who had made a strong showing in his own primary would strengthen the ticket.

Leaders of the Democratic courthouse group are reliably reported to be concerned by several aspects of the primary returns.

Turner's Loss Puzzling

In addition to Loughran's strong race, the organization is worried about the surprising defeat of Raymond H. Turner, son of Chief Detective Arthur B. "Buddy" Turner, the county's master politician, for the clerk of courts nomination.

The courthouse politicos also have noticed that the votes cast in the Democratic primary for judicial candidates other than Bauer and Sculco far exceeded the totals for the two machine-backed candidates.

Also, an organized effort was made to get votes for Judge Bauer on the Republican ticket. But he ran a poor fourth in the field of six candidates and therefore apparently lacks the kind of bi-partisan support often given to so-called "sitting" judges.

It would be going too far to say that the Democratic strategists are discouraged about the prospects. Concerned would probably be a more accurate word.

GOP Bickering

On the Republican side dissatisfaction is mounting against the leadership of County Chairman Edwin A. Swink. Some of the GOP candidates are said to be demanding privately that Swink either put a stop to the bickering that marks Republican politics or give way to somebody who can.

The Independent was told that "the law" is going to be laid down to Swink by some important Republicans within the next few days.

The same source said it will be demanded of Swink, among other things, that he set up some kind of functioning party organization in Monessen for the general election campaign.

In the primary there were no Republican candidates for local offices in Monessen, and it was reported that several GOP committee workers spent their time soliciting write-in votes for Democrats on the Republican ticket.

Senate Finance Committee contended the "defense appropriations can be reduced by a substantial amount by just eliminating waste."

"I don't intend to vote to injure the essentials of national defense," the economy-bloc leader declared.

Byrd made the statement in commenting on Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks' warning Monday to fellow-businessmen not to join the "budget butchers" in a drive to smash the Eisenhower peace-and-prosperity program.

"Think twice before any of you join those who want to tear the heart out of national defense and mutual security," Weeks said.

Dairy Workers To Vote Monday On New Contract

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Employes of 65 dairy plants in 11 Western Pennsylvania counties will ballot next Monday on a proposed new wage contract.

The vote was scheduled at a negotiating session Monday afternoon between representatives of the Greater Pittsburgh Dairy Industry Association and Local 205, Milk & Ice Cream Salesmen - Drivers and Dairy Plant Employes. The union represents 3,000 employes of association member firms.

Harry A. Tevis, local president, said the union's negotiating team would meet later this week to decide whether to recommend the offer for ratification by local members.

The previous contract between the association and the union expired May 1. Union members have authorized a strike, but no deadline has been set by the union.

Kennedy Thinks Catholic Can Be President

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) said Monday night he believed a Roman Catholic could be elected president.

"The people are running ahead of the politicians . . . who say a Catholic would have no chance for the presidency," he said. "The people today are more interested in a man's talent and ability than his religious convictions."

Kennedy added he did not plan to be a candidate for the presidency in 1960. He said he would run for re-election to the Senate in 1958.

Kennedy expressed his views in a tape-recorded interview on radio station KDKA's weekly program, "for The Record."

He said that in 1928 Al Smith failed in his presidential bid for reasons other than his Catholic religion.

"You must remember that the Republicans had been in power a long time, that 1928 was a period of prosperity and that Al was campaigning against prohibition — an unpopular stand," he said.

Still, he noted, Smith did better in the South than Adlai Stevenson in 1952.

Rhinoceros Milked For First Time

FRANKFURT, Germany (UP) — Zoo officials said today that for the first time in history a rhinoceros held still long enough to be milked.

The huge animals generally are short-tempered, but the Frankfurt Zoo had an advantage. A rhino named Catherine the Great apparently was grateful to the veterinarians who helped her through a serious illness. She became virtually tame and had no objections to being milked. The milk had a butterfat content of .27 per cent compared with 3 or 4 per cent for cow's milk.

First Shot Is Just Accident

CROWLEY, La. (UP)—Conrad Thibodeaux, 13, told a coroner's jury he accidentally shot his brother Jack, 15, in the back and then shot him again because he did not want to see him suffer.

Conrad said the gun went off accidentally while he was loading it Sunday night while they were alone in their farm home. Conrad said his brother screamed and stumbled when the shot hit him in the back.

"I held the gun in my left hand and aimed it at Jack," the boy said. "I put my right hand over my eyes and pulled the trigger."

The second shot hit Jack in the head. The jury found that Jack died from two bullet wounds inflicted "at the hands" of the younger brother. No charges were filed.

Adenauer Ready for Disarmament Trade

WASHINGTON (UP) — West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer appeared ready today to trade German approval of U.S. "first step" disarmament proposals for strong American affirmation that German unification and general disarmament are linked.

Adenauer and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles planned a previously unscheduled meeting this morning apparently to work out details. The chancellor planned to meet with President Eisenhower an hour later.

The White House was expected to release a communique later in the day on the last two days of U.S.-German talks. Then Adenauer was scheduled to address first the House and then the Senate.

Presidential disarmament adviser Harold E. Stassen will present new U.S. proposals for a "first step" disarmament program to the Russians this week in London. Administration officials have said adherence of as many nations as possible including West Germany to a "first step" slice disarmament plan is essential if it is to work.

However, West Germany has insisted repeatedly that there should be no general disarmament agreement with Russia unless it is tied to a political agreement over unification of East and West Germany. The United States has agreed.

Freak Sandstorm Lashes Weymouth

WEYMOUTH, England (UP)—A freak sandstorm lashed this South Coast seaside resort Monday night, with drifts up to 14 feet, piling up in the downtown streets.

A 60-mile-an-hour wind whipped up sand from the beaches and through the town. Firemen wearing goggles and masks poured millions of gallons of water onto the beach to prevent it from blowing away.

Congress Listens To Postal Pleas; Promises Little

WASHINGTON (UP) — Congressmen said today they would listen anew to Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield's pleas for more money but indicated they may not give him enough to avoid cuts in postal service.

President Eisenhower prepared to send Congress a supplemental request for postal funds with a warning that service will have to be "drastically curtailed" unless Congress approves it. Summerfield said it would total about 140 million dollars.

Chairman A. Willis Robertson (D-Va.) of the Senate Postal Appropriations Subcommittee said the bill would be sent to the House today. He said Eisenhower probably would ask for between 140 and 150 million dollars.

"I don't think Congress will give him all he asks, but Congress has to hear his story," he said.

Hearings Slated

Chairman J. Vaughn Gary (D-Va.) of the House Postal Appropriations Subcommittee said Summerfield "will have to justify every dollar" in his new request. Gary said he would schedule "very full and complete hearings" promptly after the request is received.

He said if Summerfield can prove the need for it "I am certain the subcommittee will give him the money necessary to continue postal operations on a proper basis."

However, he said the subcommittee will inquire whether changes can't be made without impairing service. For example, he said, Saturday deliveries to businesses and industries might be reduced since many are closed that day.

President Signs Money Bill

The President issued his warning of possible drastic reductions in postal service Monday as he signed the pared-down Post Office Department money bill.

Eisenhower signed the money bill after conferring at the White House with Summerfield and members of the Post Office Advisory Board, a civilian group including representatives of labor, business and the newspaper and advertising professions.

The board agreed that unless Congress votes more money Summerfield will have no alternative but to halt Saturday mail deliveries, close hundreds if not thousands of smaller post offices and arbitarily reduce the volume and perhaps types of mail handled.

Eisenhower originally asked $3,240,000,000 for the postal service. But Congress cut the figure to $3,192,000,000. Summerfield warned at the time that he would have to curtail service unless Congress restored the 58 million dollar cut plus 70 million dollars to 90 million dollars more.

At the same time, Summerfield announced plans to increase fees effective July 1. Included would be special delivery, money orders on several special postal services, and insured mail. Summerfield does not need congressional approval to put these increases into effect.

Nationalist China Envoy Denies Riots Organized

WASHINGTON (UP) — Nationalist Chinese Ambassador Hollington K. Tong said today he would lead his countrymen in a subscription drive to repair the riot-damaged U.S. Embassy at Taipei.

Tong pledged to donate $1,000 out of his own pocket.

The ambassador said Monday night on ABC's TV "Press Conference" that the mobs participating in anti-American rioting on Formosa last week were not organized or Communist-inspired.

He said the riots were an "isolated thing" that got out of hand.

Asked specifically how the rioters knew how to get to the embassy code room, Tong said:

"The code room, you see, when the mobs became mobs, they did a lot of things which they regretted afterwards."

U.S. officials at Taipei said Monday that "definitely organized" rioters armed with axes concentrated on smashing their way into the secret embassy code room. They said the attack compromised some of the U.S. codes.

Tong said the Nationalist Chinese "are going to dig out of our own pockets and pay for damage" to the embassy. If necessary, he said, "I believe we will" build a new embassy at no cost to the American taxpayers.

Judge Reverses Contempt Ruling

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UP) — A judge has reversed his decision holding a reporter for the Scripps-Howard Memphis Press-Scimitar in contempt of court for calling one of the judge's rulings "stupid."

Traffic Court Judge John Colton Monday returned an $11 fine to reporter Menno Duerksen saying that after "long consideration" he decided the comment was not contemptuous because it was made some distance from the court.

Duerksen said it was made Saturday at the Memphis police station press room where Colton accosted him and asked him, "off the record," what Duerksen thought of a ruling charging the mayor with leaving the scene of an accident.

Tax Evaders Facing Felony Prosecutions

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Supreme Court has ruled that income tax evaders must be prosecuted under the felony statute which carries a maximum sentence of five years in jail and a $10,000 fine.

Justice Felix Frankfurter announced the 7-2 decision Monday in an appeal brought by Sam Achilli, convicted auto dealer from Chicago. Achilli contended he should have been sentenced under a misdemeanor statute which provides for a lighter punishment.

The decision applied to other well-known offenders including gamblers Frank Costello of New York and L. B. Binion of Dallas, Tex., and rubber magnate Poncet Davis of Akron, Ohio.

Frankfurter said the less severe statute does not apply to income tax evasion. Costello and others released on bond pending the outcome of Achilli's appeal must now go back to jail and finish out their terms.

In another case involving tax evasion the high court unanimously ordered a new trial for Henry W. (The Dutchman) Grunewald and former Internal Revenue official Daniel A. Bolich in a $160,000 tax-fix case. New York lawyer Max Halperin, a third defendant, must also be tried again.

The reversals were based on improper instructions to the jury by the trial judge.

Grunewald, Bolich, and Halperin were convicted of conspiracy to defraud the government in connection with possible tax evasion prosecutions of Patullo Modes Inc., a clothing firm, and the Gotham Beef Co., both of New York.

The court also refused to review civil verdicts of $57,600 each against Gilbert S. Parnell, Indiana, Pa., lawyer and the First National Bank of Indiana as reimbursement for government bonds stolen in 1946 from a San Francisco bank.

BORDEAUX, France (UP) — Two men from Bordeaux said today they will try to drift across the Atlantic Ocean to the United States on a 15-foot-long pine log raft.

Rene Lescombe, 35, and Guy Gouttepifre, 28, said they expected the trip to take from four to five months. During that time, they will sleep in a small wooden cabin on the raft and eat fish and greens they take from the ocean, they said.

Leader Vetoes Bill To Open Pymatuning

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader has vetoed legislation to open a larger portion of Pymatuning Lake to motorboats with higher horsepower motors, chiefly on the grounds it would adversely affect water supplies for industrial and community needs.

The governor said two bills which he rejected would have virtually the same effect on water supplies by "setting in motion pressures for maintenance of water levels high enough to support such motorboating."

A House proposal would have allowed more powerful motorboats to use the section now limited to craft with engines of six horsepower or less south of the Espyville-Andover causeway. A Senate bill would have opened that part of the lake north of the causeway and extending to the Linesville causeway to boats of more than six horsepower.

The governor said the Senate bill "on its face would appear merely to increase the area on Pymatuning Lake upon which motorboats are permitted to operate."

"However, it does more than fail as a recreational measure," he said. "It represents a potential threat to the livelihood of every worker in the Shenango and Beaver River valleys, endangering existing industry and hampering that area in its competition with neighboring Ohio communities for industrial development.

Obviously the opening of an area not now suitable for motorboating would lead to increased pressure for a higher and stable lake level, for without it the users would face unnavigable mud flats when the water is low, as well as a forest of tree stumps which would make motorboating hazardous if not impossible."

The governor said that upwards of 200,000 persons would be adversely affected in Mercer, Lawrence and Beaver counties, all bordering Ohio and all "in competition with neighboring Ohio communities for industry."

Chiefly hurt, he said, would be the steel communities of Sharpsville, Greenville, Sharon, Farrell and Wheatland, together with West Middlesex, New Castle, Ellwood City and Beaver Falls.

He said the chief reason Pymatuning was built was because in the past the region suffered depression because its industries had to shut down in summer for lack of water.

Gordon MacRae Settles Suit

LOS ANGELES (UP) — Singer Gordon MacRae has settled a $10,000 damage suit resulting from a traffic accident in December, 1955, but faces litigation on a $125,000 action brought by a woman involved in the crash.

The settlement of a $10,000 suit filed by Leonard Miller, 39, of Van Nuys, Calif., was announced Monday in Superior Court. The singer was reported to have agreed to pay Miller $2,325.

Another case brought by Mrs Marion Dunn, 38, was scheduled for trial Sept. 12.

Miller charged MacRae with crashing into the back of his car, forcing it into an automobile driven by Mrs. Dunn.

200,000 Stricken In Flu Epidemic

MANILA (UP) — Some 200,000 persons in The Philippines have been stricken in the influenza epidemic now raging through the Far East, it was estimated today. So far, 133 deaths have been reported.

Thailand reported its first influenza cases while Japanese health authorities battled a second invasion of the disease.

Philippine medical authorities launched "Operation Flu" in Manila—a house-to-house survey to discover and hospitalize all unreported cases.

Tax-delinquent Sale Revocation Is Upheld

HARRISBURG (UP) — The Pennsylvania Supreme Court has upheld a Clearfield County Court ruling which revoked the sale of tax-delinquent property to the wife of one of the owners.

The case involved the estate of Frank Pusey, who died without a will and left a house, 36 acres of land and a half-interest in an additional 175 acres owned jointly with his son, William.

The property was sold for delinquent taxes to the county commissioners Jan. 10, 1936. Six years later William's wife, Mary, purchased the property at a public auction for $263.

In 1954, seven of William's brothers and sisters asked the county court to revoke the sale on grounds the properties were obtained clandestinely and by fraud. The court ordered reconveyance of one-eighth interest in the father's house and 36 acres and one-sixteenth interest in the 175-acre property to each plaintiff.

The state high court, in an opinion by Justice Michael M. Musmanno, held that William and Mary Pusey were to be reimbursed for all monies spent on the purchase and for labor performed in improving the property.

On the other hand, the court ruled, the plaintiffs were entitled to income due them for six years prior to the time they started action to recover the lands.

"We want every dollar you've got," Connor said, "But take my tip and get a good grip on them, for we'll respect you for guarding those green fishes much more than if you chuck 'em around. Come right on in."

The Punching Bag

REPUBLICAN voters in Westmoreland County, and particularly the few left in Monessen, if they have any pride at all in their party affiliation, should lose no time, it seems to us, in expressing their dissatisfaction with the kind of leadership they have been getting. As matters now stand, the GOP in Westmoreland County is little more than a punching bag, and we see no change unless some-how the rank and file of Republican voters start clamoring about some different leadership.

The need for this is more evident in Monessen than elsewhere. In the recent primary, we are told, some members of the Republican County Committee actually accepted pay to "work" for Democratic candidates trying to capture Republican nominations. And in some cases they worked harder for the Democrats than they ever worked for Republican candidates.

Obviously a political party which tolerates this kind of nonsense isn't going anyplace but to the discard. It not only has lost the confidence of the public — it has thrown away its own self-respect.

Good government depends to an important degree on the competition of the major parties. Without it, we take serious risks of the sort which the people of Westmoreland County know all too well.

Some way must be found to get the Republican party up off the mat and back into business in Westmoreland County. And it looks to us as if that can't happen unless the grass roots voters of the party start sounding off so they can be heard clear to Harrisburg and, if need be, to Washington.

Hard to Take

THIS business of our nation being a world power, whether it likes it or not, is full of heartache as well as financial cost. The demonstrations against the United States which occurred in Formosa last week come under the heartache column.

If there is any people for whom the United States has gone all-out, it is the Chinese on Formosa. We have stood by them in the councils of the world through thick and thin and against the advice of our oldest and best friends. Chiang Kai-shek's regime is alive today on Formosa and holds the legal title to the government of China only because of the support of the United States.

We know little of the incident which touched off the demonstrations in Taipei last week. But even if the United States were completely wrong in this incident — which we find hard to believe — this would still not entitle our embassy to be ransacked, Americans to be chased and stoned on the streets, our envoy's home to be violated and the American flag insulted by Chinese mobs.

It is true, of course, that our foreign policies and actions are dictated more by our own self-interest than by altruism. And we no doubt will continue to support the Chinese Nationalists for reasons of self-interest, insults to the contrary.

But episodes of this kind cannot help but be encouraging to a nation which is trying so hard to make the world aright and make it habitable for men who would be free.

The Budget Battles

HARRISBURG, too, is having a "battle of the budget". And in its major outlines, it is not at all unlike the battle in Washington, except that the political sides are approximately reversed.

Democrats in Washington the Democrats are embarrassed by the extravagance of the Eisenhower administration's budget proposals, the same are reversed in Harrisburg. There we have a Republican majority in the legislature trying to hold the economy line against the recommendations of the Democratic governor, Leader.

It is a timely illustration, we believe, of something we have felt throughout the Washington budget controversy, and that is that many of the differences have more to do with politics than they have to do with the basic principles of government finance. We are not saying that all the Democrats in Washington who are criticizing the Eisenhower budget and all the Republicans in Congress who are chopping up the Leader budget are hypocrites. Unquestionably many members in both capitals are acting from conviction and in some instances, from principle which deserves public respect.

But a lot of the opposition in both places comes from partisanship pure and simple. The critics simply have an urge to embarrass the Administration and are using the budgets as the handiest weapons available at the moment.

It requires the citizen to read the news of the budget battles with considerable discrimination. The wheat of the arguments is full of

Merry-Go-Round—

Senatorial Courtesy In Practice

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Shortly before Republican senators excoriated Democratic Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon on the Senate floor, Morse got a call from the chief attacker, Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire.

Mr. Pearson

Morse had charged in a Detroit speech that Eisenhower was "the same kind of immoralist" as Beck, because his administration had granted rapid tax write-off certificates to the Idaho Power Co. on its three Hell's Canyon dams. The White House was sizzling.

"Wayne," said kindly conservative Senator Bridges just before the Senate convened, "we've been good personal friends, so I wanted to notify you that the White House has been putting a lot of pressure on me. I'm going to have to make a speech on the floor this afternoon in regard to your Detroit remarks comparing the President with Dave Beck.

"I want you to know that there's nothing personal about it. I simply have a job to do and I'm sure you'll be able to take care of yourself."

"I'll do the best I can," replied Morse, and was on deck when the Senate opened, ready for the attack.

Washington Traffic

Sen. Thruston Morton (R., Ky.) got stalled in a Washington traffic jam the other day en route to his office. Cars closed in from all sides. In desperation, he flagged a police cruiser and identified himself.

"I'm not asking for any special favor to get ahead of all this crowd," he said, "but I do have to get to work. Would you please help me get out of here?"

"Senator," the policeman drawled, "I'm stuck, too. If you can figure a way out, I'll follow you."

Thereupon, Morton led the police cruiser inch-by-inch through the clogged traffic.

Fancy Dan Admiral

When President Eisenhower read in the newspapers that Adm. Arthur Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, had sounded off that the Russians never could be trusted on disarmament, he grabbed the telephone.

Ike is about the mildest President the American public has ever seen in press conferences, and when he appears on television. But in private conversations, especially with military men, he can chew out an admiral or a general as if he were a buck private. This is what he did to Radford.

He told the chairman of the Joint Chiefs that he could say anything he wanted against disarmament in the secrecy of the White House, but that it was not his business to sound off publicly against disarmament. A military man's place is in the council room, not on the platform. Ike told Radford in effect: Talks with Russia are at a critical stage, and remarks such as the Admiral's might ruin everything.

This was the background behind the President's press conference remarks later that he is willing to meet the Russians halfway in any reasonable disarmament plan.

Actually, Ambassador Bohlen, recently returned from Moscow, reports that the climate for an arms agreement is better than at any time recently. This is partly because the Kremlin appears to realize the tragedy of war, partly also because the Kremlin is having serious industrial problems. Simultaneously, Eisenhower — partly perhaps because he is a military man — considers as his greatest ambition the goal of peace. He has confided to friends that he would rather consummate a peace plan with Russia than any other thing during his term as President.

NOTE — Ike should have known that he was borrowing trouble when he first appointed Radford chairman of the Joint Chiefs. Truman originally exiled Radford to the Pacific for stirring up a bitter battle against the Air Force over the long-range bombing effectiveness of the B-52 as against the effectiveness of the big airplane carrier. Radford stepped way out of line in organizing an attack against the Air Force, causing mild-mannered Gen. Omar Bradley to brand him and colleagues publicly as "Fancy Dan Admirals."

Three's a Crowd

From Washington—

A Report on the USSR

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Two things: Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev, like any politician, is going to take his case to the people — to the American people — via TV next Sunday afternoon. Again last week President Eisenhower said he thought the Soviets were negotiating seriously and constructively in London on disarmament.

Mr. Drummond

Anything can happen. Something good may come out of the arms talks. It will certainly be interesting to learn what Mr. Khrushchev's Trendex and Hooper ratings turn out to be. I wouldn't be surprised if he accidentally helped the President get his budget approved.

Meanwhile in anticipation of the news which may be in the making, this may be a good moment to put down the best and most objective intelligence I can tap on how things stand in Mr. Khrushchev's own domain. I'm not talking about what we would like and I am not suggesting that these judgments can be accepted without reservation; they can't. Massive secrecy still rules the Soviet Union. But here is a report on Soviet trends and straws in the wind which I can vouch for as knowledgeable and worth listening to:

The Kremlin — Mr. Khrushchev remains solidly in the seat as "chairman of the board." He is the most influential single member of the Presidium and there is every evidence he will remain so.

Whimsical, iron-fisted, one-man dictatorship as when Stalin alone pulled all the levers at the corner, is out; the "collective" dictatorship is strongly established and there is no sign of this one-man aspect of Stalinism coming back.

This means that when there is serious disagreement among the 11 members of the Presidium a vote is taken and majority rule prevails.

This doesn't mean that there is any important relaxation beyond the Presidium. It stops at the edge of the Presidium. Elsewhere majority rule is not allowed to raise its head.

The decline of the secret police, the decentralization of the economic organization, the decentralization of the judicial system — this process of change, which has not run its course, means change only in the form and functioning of the dictatorship; it does not mean democratization in any Western sense.

Post-Stalin problem — Stalin's death left Russia a dictatorship without a dictator, an empire without an Emperor, a religion without a Pope. His successors concluded that they could not run the Soviet Union or the Eastern European satellites Stalin-style. The post-Stalin evolution — changing the forms but not the substance of dictatorship — has been less successful in the satellite world than in the Soviet Union.

There are two reasons. The Communist regimes in Eastern Europe were imposed by Kremlin bayonets. The Eastern European peoples — mostly anti-Soviet, mostly anti-Communist — belonged to the tradition of Western Europe, had vivid memories of their own beginnings of democratic government.

The Kremlin has lost the Stalin-type control of the whole satellite world. It lost it in Yugoslavia before Stalin died. It lost it in Poland after Stalin died. The trend has not come to rest. The Kremlin will not willingly withdraw its troops; will not willingly allow any of these countries to discard the form of the Soviet state. If this unSoviet, un-Communist movement in Eastern Europe goes too far, you can expect a blood bath that would make Hungary look like a Sunday school picnic.

Post-Stalin Russia and the free World — There are fewer changes of any kind here. Eastern Europe is not a subject that can be negotiated. Neither can the unification of Germany, either among the big powers or with Bonn alone. There is no visible solution of any of the great tensions of the cold war.

There is within the Kremlin an increasing fear of nuclear war and real anxiety that the present arms race will lead to war if not halted. This is why the Soviets are interested in disarmament, but it would have to be disarmament without a political settlement. They aren't going to buy disarmament with anything but mutual disarmament. The cold war would simply continue on a less expensive, armament-wise, level. This suggests that the Soviets might accept a degree of arms inspection and control that would mean something.

P. S. — As to Mr. Khrushchev's one-hour TV appearance over a U. S. network, I hope President Eisenhower will ask for equal time over the Soviet radio.

The Lighter Side—

The Art of Laughter

By DOC QUIGG

NEW YORK (UP)—To George Q. Lewis, the tendency of many Americans to look down their noses at the titter, the chuckle, the giggle, the hyena, the bamboola, the yuk, the boffola, and the yok—in the order of increasing intensity named—is no laughing matter.

He believes we should laugh aloud and like it.

"Very few people laugh aloud at home watching TV," he says. "They may smile, or snicker, but that doesn't do you any good. You got to laugh—the way they used to like to do when he flubs on the golf course. I feel that laughing is a therapy and also a culture.

And people are self-conscious about laughing aloud in a crowd. Why should laughter be almost illegal? This is not the America I once knew. People are not expressing themselves."

Laughing Academy Started

To the end of the shoring up this sag in our culture, Lewis has started a laughing academy. Each Wednesday night, 10 to 15 persons go to school, just for laughs. Tuition is $1 a night.

The school has two instructors. One, Lou Dukay, is a comedian who has been laughing, more or less regularly, for 30 years. The other is Madelain Klein, a Hunter College student who is writing a laughter thesis.

"We do this laughing about an hour," Lewis explained. "First Lou and Madelain lecture. Then we ask the people to get up and laugh in different tones. Give out. Express themselves. We run the scale, up high to down low: Heehehahahahohohohohawhaw.

"Then we get the group to laughing in chorus to music. We do 'Tea For Two'—Ha Ha-Ha, Ha Ho Ho-Ho — Only sometimes it sounds like 'April In Paris.' It gets to be a free-for-all after a while. People go off on their own.

"We've got a pharmacist, a housewife, a clerk, an advertising art man, a traffic manager, a purchasing agent, an arsenal worker, and a court reporter, among others. School will keep on going until they get sick of laughing, far as I'm concerned. To me it's a serious business. These people are enjoying a new culture."

It might be well to remark here that Lewis is the instigator and driving force behind National Laugh Week, the National Association of Gagwriters, the Laugh Olympics, the Comedy Workshop, Humor Hall of Fame, and other desperate attempts to limber the country's mirth posture.

When to Laugh

He claims that when his pupils complete the laugh course, they'll know the proper place to laugh in a joke (at the end, he claims), how to laugh at home when the canned laughs are missing from TV shows, and how to classify some 117 different types of laughter.

"The yok, for instance," he said, "that's the big one—the explosion—the one the comics pray for. The Yuk is a long shade lower than the yok. The boffola is bigger than a yuk but not so big as a yok. The bamboola, that's a small type laugh—hahaha, like that—but heavier than a chuckle."

Lewis is philosophical about the academic life.

The Cynic's Corner—

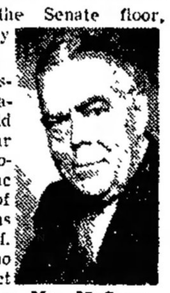
Behind The News—

Hope Continues for Disarmament Pact

By CHARLES M. McCANN

There appears to be increasingly strong hope that the disarmament of Oregon on the Senate floor, yesterday may make history.



Mr. McCann

A general disarmament treaty, which would outlaw nuclear warfare and provide for drastic reduction of armed forces, is a long way off.

But there is no escaping the fact that leaders in allied capitals believe the London talks may bring the essential first step.

Represented in the conference are the United States, Canada, Great Britain, France and Soviet Russia.

The delegates of these five countries constitute a sub-committee of the United Nations Disarmament Commission.

They met first in London in 1955. They got nowhere. Since then talks have been held both in London and at U. N. headquarters in New York. The present conference started originally in London on March 18.

This time there was a different atmosphere. In the past, every attempt by the Western countries to get started had been blocked by Russia's refusal to agree to any system of inspection and control that would prevent cheating.

Softer Attitude

Almost from the start of the London conference, there were indications the Russian attitude had softened.

Now, the feeling seems to be general that the Russians, however reluctantly, may be ready to do business.

The Soviet government is feeling the cost of maintaining its enormous military machine. It is apparent also that Russian leaders are fully aware that however much damage they might inflict upon the Allies in a nuclear war, the Soviet Union would be the big loser.

The London talks were recessed on May 16 until today, so that Harold Stassen, the chief American delegate, and Valerian A. Zorin, the chief Soviet delegate, could go home to report and get fresh instructions.

Stassen, especially, seemed to feel that for the first time in years of sporadic disarmament conferences since the end of World War II the Russians seemed ready to talk seriously about a control system.

Shares Optimism

President Eisenhower has shown by his comments at his press conferences in Washington that he shares Stassen's optimism.

He said on May 15 that the Russians were now taking "a different tone." "I believe they are now growing more serious," he said. One reason the President cited was the strain on Russia, as on other countries, of defense spending.

At his May 22 conference the President spoke of "the first simple moves" which were necessary in seeking agreement. If these steps were taken, he said, "then I think you can confidently hope to take the next step, and the next step."

Stassen held a series of conferences with high officials, from the President down, during his visit to Washington.

The climactic meeting at which new American disarmament proposals were approved, was held at the White House Saturday, with President Eisenhower presiding. These proposals may help the London conferees to take their first step toward agreement.

National Affairs—

Grass Roots of GOP Will Be Heard from

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON (UP)—The next march on Washington will be by grass roots Republicans who are somewhat unhappy with the Eisenhower administration.

Mr. Wilson

Advance notices suggest they may be unhappy enough to tell President Eisenhower all about it. Whether the assembly gives the Administration a piece of its mind or the incident ends happily in the warmth of the Eisenhower smile remains to be seen.

However that may be the grass rooters are due here next week, some hundreds of them representing the 48 states. The White House sponsors the meeting, in a way. It grew out of a conference between Eisenhower and chairman Meade Alcorn of the Republican National Committee.

Handpicked For Job

Alcorn was handpicked for that job by Eisenhower and was elected Jan. 22 as a modern Republican committee administrator. There followed meetings between Alcorn and congressional Republicans in which the new chairman was told that the Eisenhower administration was in serious trouble with the voters.

The chairman hustled to the White House to talk it over. He subsequently received from Eisenhower a letter which, the United Press was informed, stated bluntly that the people should have the greatest and most effective voice in determining party policy.

There followed regional meetings in five cities: Omaha, Neb.; Salt Lake City, Utah; Louisville, Ky.; Cincinnati, Ohio, and Trenton, N. J.

It is the grass roots participants in those meetings who are to come here next week. A digest of their gripes and cheers and opinions is being prepared, the United Press was informed, for presentation to Eisenhower. The presentation will be made by Alcorn, escorted by Sen. Andrew F. Schoeppel (R-Kan.) and Rep. Richard M. Simpson (R-Pa.).

Before TV Speeches

The regional meetings were held, for the most part, before Eisenhower's two recent TV speeches defending his big spending budget. One thing the big White House powwow may show is whether those speeches have had any effect on the place it really counts—the grass roots, and particularly the Republican grass roots.

The five regional meetings were closed to the press. Participants talked frankly, sometimes angrily, of Eisenhower administration politics and policies. The Alcorn-Schoeppel-Simpson report will challenge Eisenhower on federal aid to schools if the regional trend of thinking is properly reflected. The United Press was told federal school aid was the sorest spot of all.

There was a solid but not universal beef against foreign aid.

The loudest laments at the regional meetings were said to involve patronage and the way the White House handles it.

Townsend Testimonial on June 4

There's a Monessen delegation forming for the testimonial dinner on June 4 in behalf of retiring West Newton coach S. S. Townsend. It was Towney who first coached the Monessen High football and basketball teams to greatness back in the "teens." As a matter of fact, he organized the first MHS cage squad. Tickets for the affair may be secured from this reporter at $2. All of Towney's Monessen friends are invited to attend . . . Incidentally efforts are being made to have most of those early MHS teams on hand for the affair. Significantly a good many of the Townsend products are business and professional men today.

A Little League practice session in West Newton was held up the other day when a rabbit's nest was discovered in the outfield. One of the LL managers, Sherman Brizzi, took two of the baby rabbits home for his four boys to raise . . . Speaking of Brizzi, he's in line to succeed Townsend as basketball coach at West Newton if he so desires . . . Chuck Smith, the 6-3 basketballer at Wash High, set a new high jump record in the PIAA competition at Penn State over the weekend. He leaped six feet, 5 7/8 inches . . . Nobody will get the basketball tip from that boy next season!

Schoolboy Athletes Told of Rules

Asa Bushnell, commissioner of the Eastern College Athletic Conference, reminds schoolboy athletes that they will be ineligible for collegiate competition if they: 1. Permit the use of their name or picture in commercial advertising; 2. Participate in an athletic contest under a false or assumed name; 3. Receive payment or accept a gift or loan for playing, coaching, officiating or teaching in any sport . . . According to Bushnell, many scholastic athletes are not aware of the rules, but he reminds that "ignorance of the rules does not make them less binding." . . . The reported shift in Major League franchises doesn't figure to alarm Pirate fans. After the way Pittsburghers turned out to watch terrible teams in the past, there's little danger that the Buc franchise will ever be moved.

That new playground developing on Athalia Avenue at South 14th Street was the brainstorm of Councilman Dave Victoria. As president of the Lions Club, a couple of years back, he got the thing moving and his successor, Bill Essey, kept it going . . . To all of the Bobby Bragan critics who are scolding us for defending the Buc manager, we have an even bolder statement to make. To wit: "If Bragan had the Milwaukee Braves, he'd win the pennant race by 20 games." So there!

Babe Kroskie Wins Coveted Award

Babe Kroskie has won another bowling honor. She was named the outstanding feminine bowling personality of 1957 during the annual banquet of the western Pennsylvania Bowling Proprietors Association the other night. Unfortunately Babe was not on hand to accept the award. It seems the selection is kept secret until shortly before the banquet, at which time the winner is invited to the affair. Babe was in Ohio when the invitation came and just couldn't make it. However she'll get the big trophy when the Mon Valley League holds its annual banquet . . . Incidentally Jack Barry, who served as president of the ARBDC, won the 1957 men's award. The trophies are just about the highest a rubberband duckpin bowler can win.

Myfords Win Over Cro-Ams

Tony Turcaso, the veteran City Softball League pitcher who has always saved his best performances for the Cro-Ams, did it again last night as he hurled the Myfords to a 6-3 victory at City Park.

Turcaso retired 13 Cro-Am batters in a row from the first to sixth innings. He was nicked for six hits in all and yielded single tallies in the first, sixth and seventh innings.

The talented Myford hurler helped his own cause with a pair of hits.

Three RBI's

Pat Santoro, playing his first game for the Myfords, drove in three runs with a pair of hits while Dick Shrader stroked a triple and single.

For the losers, Stancato was the only batter to collect two singles.

The setback was the first of the season for the Cro-Ams.

No-Hitter Features Opening Play in LL

A no-hitter featured opening action of the Monessen Little League yesterday.

The hitless job was turned in by Merril Tansmore and Matta of the Elks. However they were somewhat wild and permitted two runs to come across on walks, as the Elks tripped the Legion, 5-2.

In another National Division game, CIO nipped the Lions, 3-2.

Over in the American Division, VFW trounced Page Local, 10-3, while Park Service and the Ravens battled to 10-10 deadlock.

Tansmore fanned ten batters and Maatta four in their no-hit triumph. Kilpela homered for the winners.

Good Pitching

CIO won on three hit pitching by Nazzaci and Karenchak. They each fanned five hitters.

Karenchak led the CIO attack with a double and single.

VFW poured nine runs across in the third inning to swamp Page Local.

Myron Ciepley tossed a four hitter for the winners. His mound rival, Eric Crabtree, fanned 12 in a losing effort.

Beeler had a pair of hits for the winners.

Park Service and the Ravens staged the most exciting game of the night. The Park boys trailed, 7-4, going into the sixth inning. They shoved over six runs to move in front, 10-7.

The Ravens came right back in their half of the inning to score three times and tie up the score.

Paces Attack

Coccara led the Park Service boys with two doubles and a single. For the Ravens, Barton had a double and single.

The game will be resumed on Saturday prior to the regularly scheduled contest between the two teams.

Scott Paces PRA Field Tonight At Washington

What Washington Raceway fans realized early in the season is now apparent to the other tracks on the Pittsburgh Racing Association circuit — Herb Scott still is the man to beat for the title.

The first race Scott won this season was at Washington. Then, after a rainout, he came back to win last week and is a heavy favorite at the Arden Downs oval tonight.

Meanwhile, it wasn't until last week that Scott made his weight felt around the rest of the PRA circuit. The 1956 champ, who had raced in the shadow of Dick Linder much of this season finally turned his new car into the most dreaded on the track and started to climb in the overall points.

Linder went to Indianapolis for the "500" trials, and Owner Woody Brougher, a veteran driver himself, took over his No. 5 racer. He won a feature at Heidelberg but still wasn't able to maintain the big point lead Linder had over Scott. Whether Dick can handle the onrushing Scott remains to be seen but Herb still figures as the target for tonight.

Here are the top ten drivers in the current point standings:

Herb Scott, 375; Dick Linder, 369 Ed Fiola, 310; Jack Steffen, 212; Dick Swarzlander, 191; Rusty Whiteman, 173; Glade Neil, 171; Pete Pahala, 159; Lee Stover, 155; and Cliff Hutson, 152.

Ozarks Defeat West Newton in MVL, 9-2

Young Myron Sepitko Turns in Four Hitter for Monessen Nine

The Monessen Ozarks came out of their five game losing streak last night at Ninth Street Park with a rousing 9-2 win over West Newton.

The success thus evened off the Ozarks Mon Valley League record at five wins and five losses.

Myron Sepitko, a Monessen High junior, worked the route for the winners, pitching a four hitter. He fanned nine.

At bat, the Ozarks put together a ten hit attack which included home runs by Tom Rotheram, Pappy Johnson and Neil Hill.

The Ozarks scored two runs in the first inning on a walk, sacrifice and singles by Ron Danko and Bob Mastracci. Rotheram homered over the left field fence in the second inning.

Johnson Homers

Then in the fourth, Johnson homered. Sepitko followed with a double and Rotheram singled him home.

In the fifth, three more Ozark runs came across. Mastracci started with a single and Carl Crawley walked. The runners moved up on a sacrifice, then executed a double steal to send one man across. Hill brought home the other with a homer.

West Newton broke into the scoring column in the sixth on a walk, successful bunt by Kucinic and a clean shot by Wilson.

In the sixth, Jerry Destefano walked and Ron Campbell doubled him home for the final Ozark tally.

Youngster Looks Like New Zaharias

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP)—The ladies of the links insist that a chunky youngster named Wiffi Smith is the new Babe Zaharias of women's golf.

This is much like comparing the rookie Mickey Mantle with Babe Ruth, or this year's winner of the National Amateur with Ben Hogan.

But the fairway fillies figure that the 20-year-old Wiffi can't miss.

There are many reasons. First of all, she powders the ball a long ton. Add to that the silken touch of a pickpocket on the greens and the poise of a second story man in an empty house and you have the qualities which won the Dallas Open and have kept her well up among the money winners elsewhere during her brief four months as a pro.

Looks Like Patty Berg

Wiffi is the breezy young Californian who looks enough like Patty Berg to be her sister and has been making golf headlines since she was 14. At that age, only two years after playing her first round, she won the championship of the country club at Guadalajara, Mexico, where her parents had moved from Redlands, Calif.

That was a tremendous incentive for the 5-foot, 6-inch redhead with the prize crop of freckles. Two years later, at 16, she copped the Women's Western Open and at 17 she took the World Amateur at Tam O'Shanter.

Last year Wiffi had a tremendous grand slam within reach when she took the British and French Amateurs but then fell by the wayside in the U.S. event. It was enough to convince her that she had the shots to make golf a paying proposition, so she turned professional.

Her Current Goal

Right now she's one of the big threats in the Triangle Round Robin, which has attracted the top 16 women pros to Virginia Beach, Va., in a five-round tussle May 29-June 2.

If there's anything Wiffi, a solid 160-pounder, likes better than golf it's her 1928 Ford touring car.

"Of course it runs," she flares. "I drive it all over and have put 7,500 miles on it since I turned pro in January. It's a wonderful car — even though none of the other girls will ride in it with me."

But they do follow her, in more modern machines, just to be sure that Wiffi doesn't break down and get lost somewhere. After all, there was only one Babe Didrikson Zaharias. Anything remotely resembling her is a real prize at the box office. And Wiffi, they'll tell you, is it.

DOCTORING YOUR GOLF

By CARY MIDDLECOFF

Shoulder-Chin

On all full shots, I turn my head a bit to the right before starting the swing. This points my chin a little more toward the right shoulder, giving me the appearance of looking at the ball with the left eye, not the right.

I do this to give my left shoulder more turning room on the backswing. Try it and see what I mean. My left shoulder doesn't hit my chin as the shoulder turns on the backswing. If the shoulder bumps the chin, the head is apt to move. And we know the head must not move.

This gives me an extra safety margin. Since I am fairly tall (6 feet, 2 inches) and have a rather long (or turkey-type) neck, the danger of my shoulder bumping my chin on the backswing is small.

For the campactly built player (of the Mike Souchak type) with a short neck, turning the chin away becomes highly important. And, for virtually all players, it will be a help.

But let's not overdo it! Just turn the chin about an inch to the right. Turn it too much and your position becomes cramped and awkward.

Baseball Will Consider Switch

Owners Meet Today on Proposal To Move Three Loop Franchises

By LEO H. PETERSEN

CHICAGO (UP) — National League club owners will be asked today to consider a proposal that—with one stroke—would revamp the baseball map and quiet congressional attacks on the game.

Under the plan, the Brooklyn Dodgers would switch to Los Angeles, the New York Giants to San Francisco and the Cincinnati Redlegs to New York. The "triple play" could go into effect for the 1958 season if it receives the unanimous consent of the club owners.

The plan will be proposed at a special meeting of the league's executives beginning at 3:30 p.m. The owners will be told that all necessary documents, involving television and radio commitments for the future and guarantees of new parks in Los Angeles and San Francisco already have been drawn up.

The baseball official, who revealed the plan to the United Press, said the shifts would also be discussed at another meeting before the All - Star game in St. Louis, July 9, "because it is unlikely such a complicated move would be approved at a single meeting."

Operation Big Switch

The plan, dubbed "Operation Big Switch," is being presented as a possible "cure - all" for many problems confronting the owners as follows:

—It would solve the Dodgers' home park problem by transferring them to a great far western metropolis which has given assurances that it will provide the team with a stadium seating about 50,000.

—It would transfer the spectacular Dodger - Giant rivalry across the continent to cities which are natural rivals.

—It would enable the league to keep a franchise in New York—the world's largest city—and give the Redlegs a park (Yankee Stadium, which they would share with the Yankees) with a capacity of 67,000 compared to their 29,584-seat capacity in Cincinnati.

National League officials commented cautiously when the United Press revealed the plan but it was immediately hailed by Rep Emanuel Celler (D-N.Y.) and Rep. Patrick J. Hillings (R-Calif.)—the two congressional sponsors of baseball anti-trust legislation.

Seen As Good Move

"The move is good for baseball and for baseball fans because it betokens a crack in this monopolistic baseball structure," said Celler. "The proposed shifts are a healthy sign. It is good to break down the monopolistic barriers that have existed for a half a century. Baseball owners are realizing that the whole nation is interested in big league baseball—not just the eastern half."

"It is an intelligent and hopeful move on the part of the National League," said Hillings. "It may spell the difference in baseball's case for favorable legislation by the Congress. It will go a long way toward helping unsnarl the complicated legal situation now facing America's national pastime."

An anti - trust subcommittee headed by Celler will begin hearings on these and other sports bills starting June 10.

In Los Angeles, County Supervisor Kenneth Hahn called the proposal "the best lead we've ever had" and added that President Walter O'Malley of the Dodgers "told us he'd be willing to play here in 1958 either in the Los Angeles Coliseum or at Wrigley Field before settling on a permanent home."

Midget League To Elect Officers

Suggest Boat Patrol For Pymatuning Lake

An organized patrol system to handle motor boat operations on Pymatuning Lake may be developed.

Residents in the area are agitating for such a patrol and the possibilities are good that they'll get their way.

New regulations will permit larger boats on parts of the area. Moreover six horsepower (and under) motors will be allowed on parts of the lake previously restricted to all boat traffic.

Pymatuning residents predict that many more boats will now appear on the 16 mile lake, which lies partly in Ohio. They argue that a code should be developed and enforced.

It has been proposed that a central station be set up and patrols linked by radio communication.

Youngwood Fair—

The third annual fair of the Youngwood Sportsmen Club is being staged this week at the Robertshaw Parking lot in Youngwood.

In addition to kiddie rides, there are many interesting wildlife displays. A special feature this year is an albino grouse.

Any person or club wishing to put in a display should contract Russell Woodward of Youngwood.

The Youngwood group is one of the most active clubs in the Westmoreland County Sportsmen's League. Among other things, they are engaged in raising birds, winter feeding, conservation and weekly crow hunts during the fall.

A member of the club, Edison Rice, is also president of the County League.

All proceeds from the current fair will go toward buying a farm, according to a Youngwood sportsman.

Real Troubles—

Recently Game Protector Lewis Fetzer, Columbia County, received a call from a young man who said he knew where there were two young rabbits whose mother had been killed.

Asked if he would like to care for the little animals until they were old enough to fend for themselves the man replied, "Well, Mr. Estep, we have young chickens, the cat had kittens, the old dog just had puppies. So, altogether, the rabbits would be just too much."

Metal Homes—

"Man-made nesting homes for wood ducks were inspected, about May 1st, on the York and Hanover Water Company dams", reports Game Protector Earl Geesaman, York County.

"Five of the new metal homes were placed among the old-type wooden boxes. It appears the woodies prefer the former and were nesting in four of the metal homes checked. One nest contained 31 eggs, another held 20, indicating that more than one duck used each of these homes. There are good wooden nesting boxes within 150 feet of the metal ones, but the wood ducks had not used them this spring prior to early May."

Dudley to End Football Career

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Bill Dudley, one of the greatest backs to wear a Pittsburgh Steelers uniform, has closed out a long career in pro football.

Bullet Bill announced Monday he would not be back as backfield coach with the Steelers next season, but will sever all connections with the sport and concentrate on his insurance business in Lynchburg, Va.

Dudley came to the Steelers as a player in 1941 from the University of Virginia, where he was an All-America halfback. He was the Steelers' first draft choice that year.

After his years with the Steelers, Dudley starred with the Detroit Lions and Washington Redskins.

Cincy Bombards Milwaukee, 11-6; Stan Musial Gets 361st Homer

By UNITED PRESS

The Cincinnati Redlegs demonstrated first hand to the Milwaukee Braves today what its like to have a powder keg go off under them.

Beaten six straight times by the Braves and held to a team batting mark of .258 by Milwaukee pitchers early in the season, the Redlegs turned on their tormenters Monday night with an 11-6, 10-inning victory that ran their string of consecutive victories on the road to 15. Birdie Tebbetts' team now is only two games shy of the major league mark of 17 straight wins on the road set by the 1916 New York Giants.

The Redlegs beat a tattoo of 13 singles off three Milwaukee pitchers to score only two fewer runs in one game than they tallied in the six previous contests this season. In the bargain, they knocked the Braves three and a half games out of first place and maintained their two-game lead over the Brooklyn Dodgers, who downed the Philadelphia Phillies, 5-1. The St. Lous Cardinals whipped the Chicago Cubs, 6-2, in the other N.L. game.

Yanks Move Up

The New York Yankees moved to within two games of the American League lead when they walloped the Boston Red Sox, 17-8, and the Kansas City A's beat the first-place Chicago White Sox, 7-1. The Detroit Tigers defeated the Cleveland Indians, 11-5, and the Washington Senators scored 3-2 and 10-6 victories over the Baltimore Orioles in other A.L. activity.

The Redlegs piled up a 5-1 lead against "jinx pitcher" Lew Burdette but the Braves tied the score at 6-6 with the aid of two-run homers by Hank Aaron and Del Crandall in the eighth and ninth innings. But then the Redlegs batted around in a wild 10th inning marked by a fist-fight between Cincinnati's Hal Jeffcoat and Milwaukee's Johnny Logan to clinch the contest.

Hershell Freeman, third of four Cincinnati pitchers, was credited with his second win while Ernie Johnson suffered the loss.

Don Drysdale, 20-year-old right hander, fireballed a two-hitter and Duke Snider and Gino Cimoli homered off Robin Roberts as the Dodgers made it nine wins in their last 12 games. Drysdale fanned six and retired the last 16 batters to face him to win his fourth game.

Stan Musial smashed three hits, including the 361st homer of his career, and knocked in two runs to raise the lifetime total to 1,500, as he led the Cardinals' nine-hit attack. Musial tied Joe DiMaggio for seventh place in career home runs and is the 13th man to drive in 1,500 runs. Lindy McDaniel scattered 10 hits to win his third decision and Wally Moon hit safely in his 20th straight game to make it a gala night all-around for St. Louis.

A's Win Fourth Straight

The Yankees collected 13 hits good for 22 bases in an assault high-lighted by an eight-run rally in the seventh.

Bill Skowron drove in four runs with a homer and two singles, Hank Bauer had three doubles and Tony Kubek had a double and a single for New York.

Alex Kellner hurled a seven-hitter to pace the Athletics to their fourth straight vicory and hand the White Sox their second straight defeat. Lou Skizas belted in two runs with a homer and a sacrifice fly to help send Jim Wilson to his second loss.

Three walks and three hits enabled the Tigers to score four runs with two out in the seventh inning after Vic Wertz' second homer of the game tied the score for Cleveland at 5-5. Paul Foytack, who singled home two runs in the rally, won his fourth game while Early Wynn, third Indian pitcher, was charged with his fifth loss.

Jim Lemon homered in the 11th inning as the Senators won a game suspended since April 21 and then the tall outfielder drove in four runs to spark a 16-hit attack in the regularly - scheduled night game. Bob Usher had four hits for the Senators in the "second" game.

Pirates to Try New Lineup for Dodger Game

PITTSBURGH (UP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates, with the lowest winning percentage in the major leagues, get a "new look" tonight when they meet the Brooklyn Dodgers in the opening game of a 24-game home stand.

Bob Friend (3-4) will start for the Pirates and Don Newcombe (4-3) will open for the Dodgers. The teamsplay a day game on Wednesday and a doubleheader on Thursday, Memorial Day.

Manager Bobby Bragan, who appears never to run out of ideas in trying to turn the Bucs onto a winning trail, has figured out a new lineup aimed at utilizing all the speed his personnel has.

The lineup, which Brgan figures will become the "Go-Go" Pirates, has Gene Freese at third, Gene Baker at short, and Bill Mazeroski back at second. Frank Thomas will be in left field.

Bragan said he doesn't plan to keep Billy Virdon on the bench against southpaw pitching, as was the case in the recent series with the Philadelphia Phillies. Once Virdon "gets his feet on the ground," he will play regularly, Bragan said.

Senate for Tranfer Of Juvenile Homes

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Senate has approved and sent to the House legislation to transfer administration of state institutions for juvenile offenders from the Welfare Department to the Bureau of Corrections in the Justice Department.

The bill, approved by a 29-18 vote Monday, was opposed by several Democratic senators mainly on ground it would interfere with the rehabilitation program for juvenile inmates by submitting them to the same treatment as convicted criminals

Sen. Albert R Pechan (R-Armstrong) argued, however, that numerous "abuses" at the institutions under Welfare Department control would be eliminated Pechan said the record of escapes from Welfare Department "training institutions" showed a much higher rate than that of Justice Department prisons.

In addition, Pechan said, very young juveniles are quartered with "18, 19 and 20-year-old men" at such institutions as the Morganza Training School, and that, in some cases, students doing post graduate college work at the institutions have "bribed" inmates with cigarettes and liquor in order to obtain their cooperation.

Pechan said the cost of custody at Welfare Department - operated Morganza was $13 per day per inmate, while at the Justice Department's institution at Huntingdon the cost was approximately $3 a day per inmate.

The institutions which would be affected by the bill are:

The Boys' Industrial Home of Western Pennsylvania, Oakdale, Allegheny County; Junior Republic, Grove City, Mercer County; Thornhille School, Allegheny County, Gumbert School for Girls, Perrysville, Allegheny County; the Sleighton School for Girls, Delaware County; Morganza Training School, and the Kis-lyn State Training School.

Macing Charge Dismissal Asked Against Two

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Judge Samuel A. Weiss will be asked today to dismiss macing charges against two more former Republican state officials.

The Allegheny County district attorney's office said it would ask Weiss to clear by nolle prosse George L. Speed, former head of the Inheritance Tax Bureau, and Paul Nally, former comptroller for the state Department of Revenue.

Weiss threw out macing charges Monday against Harold Gensel, Berwick, and Ross Hill, Apollo, both former officials in the state Department of Labor. They were the seventh and eighth defendants who were cleared by Weiss dismissing their indictments for lack of evidence.

In all, 15 former Rpublican officials were indicted for allegedly conspiring to force state employes to contribute one per cent of their pay to a Republican campaign fund in the 1954 primary elections.

Weiss called the state's case against defendants brought before him for trial weak and inconclusive.

However, Sidney Sanes, assistant district attorney, said trial of the remaining five defendants will start on schedule June 3

The exact nature of her illness is unknown. However, a close friend of the family said Monday night that Marie is suffering from hemangioma — a blood disease centered in the blood vessels in the calf of the leg.

Cecile and Yvonne, both nurses-in-training at the St. Justine Hospital here, were given today off by hospital authorities. A student friend of the Dionnes said the girls "are planning to go somewhere in the country for the day."

Given Choice of Liquor Hours

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader has signed legislation permitting a 3 a.m. closing hour for public sale of alcoholic beverages in communities observing daylight time.

The new law, effective immediately, allows liquor licensees to choose to operate under standard time, thus permitting their establishments to serve customers from 8 a. m. to 3 a. m. edt. A licensee's total hours of operation remains the same.

The governor's signature removed the state Liquor Control Board's power to regulate rigid opening and closing hours.

Vernon Pupils Take Part in All-Day Outing

A party of 81 ninth grade students at Vernon Junior High School took part in al all-day outing on Thursday when they made a trip to Pittsburgh by chartered bus. Two buses were used and the students were accompaned by the class sponsors, Miss Constance Croushore and Mrs. Margaret Ulerich.

The group left Belle Vernon about 8 a. m. and upon arrival in Pittsburgh the first stop was Heinz Memorial Chapel after which they toured the University of Pittsburgh. After visiting the Carnegie Museum and the Zoo at Highland Park they stayed at the Park for luncheon.

In the afternoon the party saw the sky show and exhibits at Buhl Planetarium and then went to the Greater Pittsburgh Airport for a guided tour. This concluded the trip and they returned home in the early evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Valdiserri and children, of South Bend, Indiana, are visiting this week with their families and friends. Mr. Valdiserri is secretary to Terry Brennan, Football coach at Notre Dame University.

Presume Korean POWs Are Dead, Officials Say

WASHINGTON (UP)—State and Defense Department officials told Congress today that they now presume 450 American prisoners of the Korean war, never accounted for by the Chinese Communists, are dead.

They said, however, that they would continue diplomatic efforts to make the Communists account for the men because there is a "possibility" that some may be alive.

"There isn't any evidence that any of them is alive," said Assistant Secretary of State Walter Robertson.

Stephen S. Jackson, deputy assistant secretary of defense agreed. The Defense Department, he said, has no "further positive information or intelligence from any source that such is the case."

July Draft Quota

HARRISBURG (UP)—State Selective Service headquarters announced today that Pennsylvania will call up 872 men for military service in July. The men to fill the state's quota will be at least 22 years old. The quota for June was 858.

SALLY'S SALLIES

"Let him do his own homework dear; you got the Fifth Commandment, instead of the Fifth Amendment for an answer."

Strikers and Workers In Battle; Two Dead

GUNTERSVILLE, Ala. (UP) — A sheriff predicted he will make "several" more arrests and file murder charges today against men accused of taking part in a pitched battle which left two dead at a picket barricade.

Six persons were wounded, one seriously.

A Circuit Court injunction forebade all further picketing at the entrance to a $750,000 feed mill construction project where some 10 to 12 workers Monday shot it out with 25 to 30 strikers.

Sheriff L. P. Dickson of Marshall County held four suspects on open charges and said he expected to file murder charges after several more suspects are brought in.

Special Agents Assigned

Those arrested were identified as Robert A. Richardson, 49; Al Thomas, 32, William Maddox, 25, and Mack Secley, 48.

The state of Alabama has assigned two special investigators from the Department of Public Safety to help ferret out those responsible for the melee between the two groups armed with at least 30 guns of all types.

The Gulf State Construction Co. of Atlanta filed a $250,000 damage suit against District 50, United Mine Workers, whose members had been picketing for a week in a demand for recognition of the union as bargaining agent.

The gunfire broke out when a group of workers tried to remove a barricade of crossties at the entrance of the site.

Those killed were identified as Johnny Leroy Ward, of Parsons, Kan., and William Harrison, of Albertville, Ala.

Mrs. J. T. Cunningham, living some 100 yards from the scene, said her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Reba Cunningham, was hospitalized for shock caused by "bullets screaming all over the place." None hit the dwelling, however.

Gunfight Described

"We were all running from room to room and out on the porch," Mrs. Cunningham said. "We could hear the bullets coming and Kathy (her 6-year-old granddaughter) was screaming.

"None of the men said anything. They just kept shooting. I saw one of them fall. He just lay there and the others kept shooting."

Senator Green Is Honored

WASHINGTON (UP) — Sen. Theodore Francis Green took a canny look through his pince nez at the last 89 years that make him the oldest congressman in history and advised the world: Don't get discouraged.

"A clear conscience and hard work will win in the end," he said.

The Senate cheered and lauded the wiry little Yankee Democrat from Rhode Island Monday at the opening of a four-day celebration of his becoming the oldest man ever to serve in Congress.

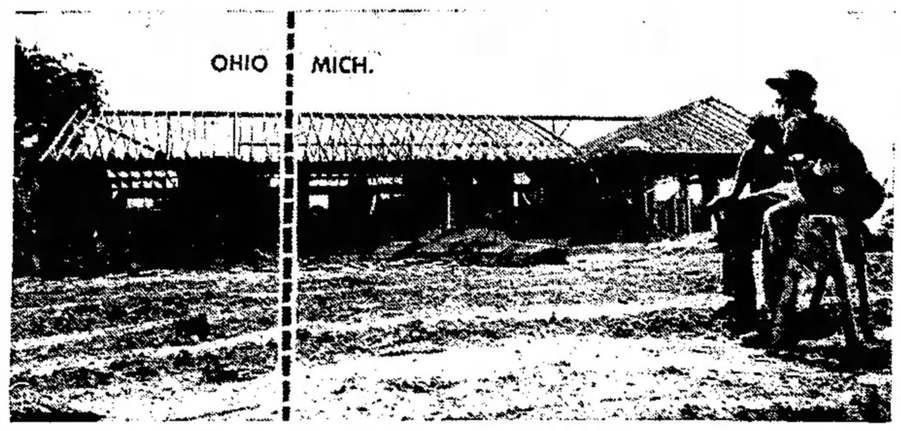
Congressional researchers could not agree whether Green became the oldest man ever to serve in Congress Monday today or Wednesday. Green made it a four-day celebration by picking Thursday to make sure and because it's Memorial Day.

Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson led the Senate in praising Green. Johnson called him an "ageless, gay, sprightly man who combines the highest degree of statesmanship and vitality and makes the rest of us sigh for the days when we were young."

GOP Leader William F. Knowland called Green "an outstanding senator, young in outlook." Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.) said Green "runs us all ragged with his vigor." Sen. Prescott Bush (R-Conn.) said Green, a bachelor and tireless party-goer, "attends more embassy affairs than any other senator."

Sen. John J. Sparkman (D-Ala.) noted that Green has said he wants to stay in the Senate until he is 100.

"If that's what he wants, he'll do it," Sparkman said.



NOBODY KNOWS THE TROUBLE HE'S SEEN — Joseph Fleitz sits at his nearly finished home on the Ohio-Michigan state line and looks at the world through woe-colored glasses as he contemplates the troubles he made for himself. He had to take out two building permits for the $35,000 house, and finally won a long battle for electricity after being bounced from state to state over federal rules. He has a Toledo address and had to put the meter in the Ohio third of the house. There are interstate hassles over water and gas, too. When the house is finished, the Fleitzes and two sons will sleep in Ohio, daughter in Michigan.

Hollywood Trend Is for Young Actresses to Turn to Dramatics

By UNITED PRESS

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—These days the trend is for the young, curvy beauties of the screen to give up lipstick and cleavage for heavy drama.

The world first witnessed the metamorphosis of Marilyn Monroe from nude calendars to the actors' studio. Arthur Miller and Sir Lawrence Olivier. This prompted Shelley Winters, Terry Moore and other movie queens to head for New York acting coaches.

The surprise switch of this season is Piper Laurie, formerly a cute redhead who ate flowers and played winsome maidens in bulging bodices in those swashbuckling Tony Curtis movies.

When Piper showed up on television in dramatic roles this past season, Hollywoodites gasped her name as they used to gasp "Sonny Tufts?"

Now four TV shows and an MGM movie later, Miss Laurie has become a top young actress. She just finished playing a neurotic, love-hungry wench in an MGM drama, "Until They Sail." And the girl who used to gobble gardenias is off to New York to mull over Broadway offers.

Explains Change

"The girl who was created because of that flower-eating stunt was somebody I never knew," Piper said in attempting to explain the change.

"What I am now is what I hope I was all the time underneath."

Seeking Piper is a surprise for those who remember the flower-eater. Sweater girls who take up serious acting seldom talk or look the same. Piper's hair now is dark brown, long and pulled off her face in Eva Marie Saint fashion. During our interview she wore little makeup, no jewelry and a simple brown cardigan sweater. She spoke haltingly, earnestly.

"I signed with Universal when I was 17," she said. "I had planned to go to New York to study but the contract was very appealing.

"I read in the columns one day I ate flowers. I had to go through with that studio publicity. I was too terrified to say no.

"I did a dramatic scene as a test but they cast me as teenagers. Then in those adventure pictures with Tony Curtis. I became disillusioned and disappointed. After a while I didn't care. I didn't work as hard as I might have. I was ashamed of what I did. I was lazy and confused.

"Finally I got out of the contract and decided I'd work in a dime store before taking another part I'd be ashamed of. I turned down many TV offers until a small part on a Robert Montgomery show, "Quality Street."

Piper's fine performance brought her more good TV scripts on "Front Row Center", "Playhouse 90" and "GE Theater."

"I started to prove a point," she said. "Because of the TV shows I got this MGM picture. I am very grateful for television."

Now, like many "reformed" glamour girls, Piper has moved to New York to study acting, live and work in TV and on the stage except when a movie comes along.

"Even my fan mail is different, more adult," the more grown-up Piper smiled. "And my friends? I'd be stupid if I said they knew I could do it all along—maybe I knew I could do worthwhile parts, but nobody else did!"

Different Shells for Pie Recipes

"What's the difference between an angel pie and a chiffon pie?" That's a question a reader has asked the Food Editor. For an angel pie, a meringue shell is used. For a chiffon pie the shell may be a standard pastry previously baked or it may be an uncooked crumb or cracker crust.

The filling may be made according to the receipt recently given for angel pie. This is thickened with unflavored gelatine. Or, a new chiffon pie filling mix of flavored gelatin may be used. This pie filling comes in two flavors and colors. The lemon is a golden yellow and the strawberry a delicate pink. These can be found in practically all food stores, either now or within a week or two. They will sell at about 15 cents a package and there is no estimate for the labor saved.

The texture of these fillings is light and firm enough so that a piece of pie can be cut easily and the filling will hold its shape while the piece is being transferred to a serving plate. The pies may be topped with whipped cream or they may be garnished with whole berries or with maraschino cherries. Halved toasted almonds are also attractive as a garnish.

The shells may be prepared ahead of time and so can the filling, if you like, although chilling is not absolutely necessary for a pie of this type when the filling has required no cooking and, therefore, no heating.

YOUR FOOD PROBLEM

By Edith M. Barber

THERE'S NOTHING LIKE A LITTLE GAME OF CARDS to bring forth a large yearning for cake. And, of course, if two layers are good, six are better — as you can see by this luscious strawberry-filled, cream-topped ribbon cake. Make up one panful, cut into three pieces, and split these in half. Spread filling on layers — freeze if you like — and frost.

Serve Delicious Ribbon Cake at Dessert Bridge

The dessert bridge is a popular form of entertainment, whether there are to be few or many guests. In fact, the games planned are just as likely to be canasta, or one of its variations, or scrabble for the growing number of persons that seem to enjoy this "intellectual" pastime.

Edith Barber

For a party of this sort, we can let ourselves go and forget all about calories for once. The guests will probably be very glad of an opportunity to enjoy themselves, with a clear conscience if they have skimped on a snack at home. Almost all of us have some dessert specialty that we like to present with pride.

If you would like a change, a pink and white ribbon cake is suggested. The cake itself is rich and delicious, and is worth making from "scratch" as the saying goes. It must be cooled before it is cut and spread with the filling. Either fresh or frozen strawberries may be used. The topping will be whipped cream, unless you prefer to use that thick sour cream occasionally known as salad cream. That slight acid flavor is particularly good with fruit.

PINK AND WHITE RIBBON CAKE

2¾ cups sifted cake flour
4 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
¾ teaspoon salt
1½ cups sugar
4 egg whites stiffly beaten
¾ cup butter
1 cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
1 teaspoon almond extract
Strawberry filling
Sweetened whipped cream

Sift flour, baking powder, and salt together 3 times. Add ½ cup sugar gradually to stiffly beaten egg whites and beat until meringue stands in soft peaks. Cream butter and add remaining sugar gradually. Cream until light and fluffy. Add flour alternately with milk, a small amount at a time, beating after each addition until smooth. Mix in flavoring. Add meringue and fold thoroughly into batter. Spread batter in 15 x 10½ x 1-inch pan, lined on bottom with paper. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 30 to 35 minutes. Cool in pan 10 minutes. Then loosen from pan and turn onto a wire rack and cool. Cut cake crosswise into 3 equal pieces, then split each piece to make 6 thin layers. Spread strawberry filling between each layer. Frost top and sides with sweetened whipped cream. Garnish with sliced strawberries. Chill in refrigerator 1 to 2 hours.

STRAWBERRY FILLING

Sift 3½ cups confectioners' sugar. Cream ½ cup butter or margarine with a dash of salt, then add part of the sugar gradually. Blend after each addition. Add remaining sugar alternately with ½ cup thawed frozen sliced strawberries or 1 cup fresh strawberries crushed until of right consistency to spread. Beat after each addition until smooth and creamy.

CORN FLAKE PASTRY

4 cups corn flakes
1-3 cup butter
¼ cup sugar

Roll or grind corn flakes to make 1 cup fine crumbs. Melt butter in 9-inch pie pan, add sugar and crumbs, and mix thoroughly. Press mixture evenly and firmly around sides and bottom of pan. Chill before adding filling. Yield: 1 9-inch pastry shell.

Graham on 'Commandments'

NEW YORK (UPI) — Evangelist Billy Graham preached the first of a series of sermons on "The Ten Commandments" in Madison Square Garden Monday night and 529 persons responded to his magnetic and impassioned plea to "come forward and make a decision for Christ."

From every corner of the huge sports arena in the heart of Manhattan they came forward—from the loges, the balconies and the floor. The weeping, the aged, the very young and the very old made their way down escalators and crowded aisles to the front of the auditorium.

Graham stood grimly in the pulpit, arms folded, hand on chin, waiting patiently as the inquirers filed down the long aisles to take their places in the vast space in front of the speaker's platform.

Occasionally as he has done for the past 13 nights Graham raised his soft tones that the Lord, He nearly-decided "cast off hesitation" and come forward to receive the fateful decision.

His singing did not go unheeded still the inquirers came forward. The ladies in black and white in a wheelchair pushed by grandmothers, the tan-faced kids in leather jackets and high school sweaters all moved to "accept Jesus Christ."

Monday nights 529 conversions brought Graham's New York Crusade total to 8,242 in the first two weeks of the revival. Nearly 225,000 have heard the 38-year-old Baptist minister's sermons so far.

Would Henry Harrison be'd be shortest term of any U. S. president. He died one month after taking office.

Boy Is Honored As Hero

CHICAGO (UPI) — A boy, 12, who saved a baby's life by breaking the infant's fall from a second story window, won belated recognition today as a hero.

Little Jimmy Thomas had kept mum about his role in the incident last Saturday because he was ashamed that he hadn't caught the falling infant.

Doctors at Garfield Park Hospital said the baby would have been killed if Jimmy had not broken his fall. The infant suffered a skull fracture, they said, but will probably live.

Jimmy tearfully owned up to his heroism Monday under questioning from his father. The boy said he felt guilty because the baby slipped through his arms and had to be taken to a hospital.

Jimmy said he and his brother Tommy, 10, were playing in their coaster wagon at the back of their home when a football flew out of a second story window.

Moments later, they saw Billy Wayne Taylor, 21 months old, crawling out of the window after the football.

"Go back, little boy, go back," Jimmy screamed. But Billy paid no attention and fell from the ledge.

Jimmy ran to the house, held out his arms clenched his teeth and braced himself as hard as he could. The 35-pound baby hit Jimmy's arms, then slipped through and fell onto the sidewalk head first. Jimmy weighs only 75 pounds.

Jimmy called to his mother, "Mommy, the baby fell out of the window." Mrs. Thomas notified the fire department and the police. Jimmy was ignored in the excitement, but watched fearfully in the background.

A neighbor who had seen the baby fall later mentioned the incident and asked about the "little boy who saved the baby's life." The word spread around the district, but nobody knew who the little boy was.

Jimmy's father, Leonard, also became curious and questioned his son closely about "this little boy."

"It was me, Daddy," Jimmy said, and burst out crying. "I caught him but I couldn't hold him."

Urges Federal Help for City Traffic Problem

CHICAGO (UP)—The federal government must help large cities solve their mass transportation problems if it is to get full value from its seven - year, 30-billion-dollar arterial highway program, Mayor Dilworth of Philadelphia said today.

"The very life and future of our big cities depend upon solution of their mass transportation problems," Dilworth said, "and the health of our urban areas is of tremendous concern to the nation as a whole . . ."

Dilworth addressed a luncheon session of a two-day clinic on coordinating metropolitan area transportation.

Dilworth said it was "essential" that the federal government help urban communities solve their mass transportation problems because "it is perfectly plain that the urban communities cannot finance this by themselves."

Of the three or four white men whose images have adorned totem poles none appeared on more than half a dozen except Abraham Lincolns.

Free Liquor to Legislators in North Carolina

RALEIGH, N.C. (UP) — The Raleigh News and Observer said today that it had uncovered a service distributing free liquor to legislators at a downtown hotel.

The newspaper's first edition, complete with pictures of the liquor being delivered to the Sir Walter Hotel, hit the streets just as the Monday night legislative session ended.

There were angry mutterings from legislators as they gathered in the Capitol corridors and hotel lobbies to read the story. None would comment for publication but one said "That's going a little bit too far. Everybody is entitled to a toddy now and then."

Many of the legislators expressed interest in the list of names of the 33 persons the paper said had shared in the liquor distribution. The News and Observer said, however it was withholding the names pending a check to determine whether the legislators actually were living in the rooms registered in their names.

Liquor is sold legally only in state stores in North Carolina and possession by an individual of more than one gallon is prima facie evidence of possession for the purpose of sale.

Anti-secrecy Bill Aground In the House

HARRISBURG (UP) — The amendment ridden legislation to require state and local records to be kept open to the public was aground again today in the House with further revisions expected.

The bill came up for final passage Monday but ran into trouble when its defender said he was not certain the legislation would not make records of adoptions open to inspection.

Rep. Herbert Fineman (D-Philadelphia) stalled the bill, contending that opening adoption records to public inspection would "open the gates to blackmail." Rep. Stanley G. Stroup (R-Bedford) consented to hold the measure over for possible clarification.

The bill, part of so-called "anti-secrecy in government" legislation in the House, would make records of state and local agencies doing "essential governmental functions" open to inspection. A companion bill would require open meetings.

The legislation would exclude records showing the progress, start or result of an investigation. It also would allow the agencies to regulate their records to keep them closed.

Witness Takes Juror

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UP) — A judge let a witness take a juror out of a trial Monday.

The juror, Robert Davis, 60, became ill during the trial and the witness, Dr. George Heer, took Davis to a hospital to remove his appendix.

Israel Defends Bridge

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP)—Israel reserves the right to defend its controversial bridge in the Huleh Swamp demilitarized zone from Syrian attack, dispatches from Tel Aviv said today.

The Security Council meets today to take up a Syrian complaint that Israel's construction of the bridge violates the 1949 armistice and is a threat to peace.

Israeli Foreign Ministry spokesman Moshe Leshem, commenting on a reported Syrian threat to blow up the bridge if the Security Council does not order its demolition, said Israel would have the right to self-defense.

In other Middle East developments:

Jerusalem— Giora Josephthal, secretary general of Premier David Ben - Gurion's Mapai Party said in a speech Israel's association with the Eisenhower Doctrine is essential because the isolated nation needs heavy armament and economic aid to absorb thousands of new immigrants.

Rome— Britain and Egypt maintained silence on progress of their trade and financial talks but one British delegate said he expected the talks to continue "another day or two." Britain seeks compensation for property seized by Egypt; Egypt seeks unblocking of pound sterling resources in London.

London— Adlai Stevenson said Monday night that President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt "may have lost a battle but he has certainly won the war." He added, "The harvest of Suez is that friends and allies have been restrained but not President Nasser and the Russians."

Woman Asking For Damages From Accident

Claiming $8,085 for injuries alleged to have been received by Mrs. Adaline Fretz, she and her husband, William R. Fretz, of Bentleyville, R. D. 1, have filed a suit in the Washington County courts against Lorenzo Capobiance, of Scenery Hill.

The alleged accident occurred about 3:40 p. m. May 23, 1955, on Route 71 in Bentleyville.

It is charged that Capobiance drove his truck through a stop sign from the blacktop road to Beallsville, and struck the Fretz car. The alleged accident took place at the foot of Peterman's Hill.

Mrs. Fretz was reportedly seriously and permanently injured.

What Decides Type Of Movie to Make

By ALINE MOSBY

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Should worried Hollywood producers make the type of pictures people "want" to see? Independent movie-maker Stanley Kramer has a rebel theory: Producers and especially poll-takers don't know what the public wants—and the public doesn't, either.

Theater owners often issue pronouncements these troubled business days on what the public "wants" after talking to their patrons — people want comedies, people want young stars, etc.

But young, dynamic Kramer, regarded as a superior filmmaker, blasts the exhibitors' demands.

"I have no conclusions as to what the public wants," the producer reflected in his office at California Studio

"I don't make pictures that I think 'wants'. My belief may have an arrogant sound, but I make pictures to satisfy myself, and hope enough people will like what I like and go to see it.

Success Unpredictable

"Sometimes I make a picture which satisfies myself and not many other people, such as 'The Men', and sometimes I make a picture that I don't think turned out well, but other people do, such as 'Not As A Stranger'.

"I remember when the picture business was in its periodic period of panic an industry round table discussion was held designed to decide what kind of picture to make.

"A theater man got up to read a list of what pictures not to make — pictures in which the heroine dies, and so forth. By the time he got to the 15th picture-not-to-make, everyone burst into laughter. It was ridiculous.

"I was once given the label of the message producer.' But the theater manager doesn't object to message pictures—he objects to those that don't make profits.

"My new picture, 'The Pride And The Passion', opens in New York July 4th It's the biggest gamble I have taken, four million dollars I've never made an epic film like this before. I think we have a solid picture. I hope other people will agree."

How Epics Are Going

Industry executives talk of better times in Hollywood, but trade sources reveal privately that the only pictures making big profits today are "Around The World In 80 Days", "Giant" and "The Ten Commandments". They all are expensive epics. But other epics have not done well.

What makes one movie a hit and another a failure?

"It's a peculiar chemistry that's difficult to explain," said Kramer. "A picture can have many faults, but have great total impact upon you, a driving element and excitement.

"We've been promoting 'The Pride And The Passion' for a year and a half, both in this country and in Europe. Sophia Loren, Cary Grant and I will go on tours to promote it Opening day we have to have triple lines at those theaters.

"But after opening day, you're on your own," said the producer with a four-million dollar gamble. "It's up to that peculiar chemistry."

Your Health—

Give Kids Chance to Know Their Doctor

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

Better prepare your child for future illnesses while he is perfectly well.

I know you do not even want to think about that day when your child will become sick and need the services of a physician, may be have to go to a hospital or at least have to take medicine.

But it is a fortunate child indeed who escapes all of these possibilities. Most youngsters just are not that lucky

So let him know what it is all about before he encounters these strange procedures when he is ill and is not in an understanding mood.

Next time you visit your doctor, take Junior along. Let him get to know the physician and to realize that he is really a very friendly guy. If the doctor has time, he will probably let the child examine a couple of his instruments and perhaps he will explain how the stethoscope works.

Then, a little later on, you can arrange for the doctor to give the youngster a checkup. It is a good idea to make sure he is in the best of health. At the same time, it gives the child a chance to become better acquainted with the doctor.

When you go to the neighborhood drug store, do not let your youngster spend all of his time looking wishfully at the soda fountain.

Show him the pharmacist's bottles and jars of medicines. And explain how they will help him get well if he should ever become ill

Next time you pass a hospital explain, too, that inside they do all sorts of wonderful things to help persons get well Tell him about the white uniformed nurses and doctors, who take care o sick children, bring them food and medicine and see that they have toys and books to play with.

Never promise your youngster that he will never have to go to a hospital. And never promise him that he will never be sick or in pain. Simply advise him that, in the event this happens, mother, daddy, the doctor, nurses and lots of other people will help him get well again.

More Safe Driving Tips for the Holidays

(The last of two dispatches by veteran race winners giving safe driving tips for the coming holiday season.)

LEE WALLARD
1951 Winner Indianapolis 500-Mile Race

At the Indianapolis motor speedway our first concern is the mechanical condition of our car.

Every vital part has been magnafluxed (X-rayed) to make sure there are no faulty parts which might fail while running at 142 miles an hour. Our tires, brakes, ignition system—everything about the car—is mechanically perfect as we leave the starting line for the 500-mile grind.

What about the mechanical condition of your car?

You should be just as sure of it as we are, because highway conditions are, believe it or not, more hazardous than they are on the race track. And you are carrying passengers.

I guess driving race cars for many years has made me more critical than most people. Maybe it's because race drivers are more safety-conscious than other drivers. Or maybe it's because I've been talking safe driving to teenagers across the country.

Anyway, in driving 15,000 miles in 20 states in the last year for the champion highway safety program, I saw some tourists who added a lot of gray hairs to this old head.

Maybe, without realizing it, you are driving an unsafe car. Have someone check the tires and brakes. They are highly important. Have them check under the hood, your radiator hose, your battery cables, fan belts, windshield washer container, spark plugs and wiring, if you want a carefree mind while traveling.

Race drivers generally concede that their success in a race is about 75 per cent dependent on the mechanical condition of the car. In many respects an automobile race—especially one like the Indianapolis 500-mile classic—is a contest of mechanics. The car must be safe and dependable to compete with any degree of success.

It's true with highway driving, too.

And other points:

Stay under the speed limit. Staying below 60 miles an hour, I average 16 miles per gallon in my 8-cylinder car and about 41 miles per hour for a trip, with time out every hour or so for a rest break.

If you're out "Sunday Driving" on a main express highway where cars are entitled to go 50-65 miles an hour, don't go 30-35. A car approaching you will have to make a quick stab for his brakes. The person behind him will have to do the same. There are plenty of country roads for the Sunday driver to enoy scenic drives. My advice to enjoy a casual, pleasurable drive is this: Take to the side roads and stay off fast-moving thoroughfares.

The little dingbats which hang from rear view mirrors are distracting. A glance at them at the wrong time can lead to serious trouble. And take a look at the back seat. Is it packed high with books, maps, hat, candy or tissue boxes? Then put them away. A sudden stop and you could be the victim of what the newspapers might call a "freak" accident. Some of our worst accidents have been "freaks."

Residents Of State Favored

HARRISBURG (UP)—The House today received a Senate-approved "anti-carpetbagger" bill aimed at giving residents of Pennsylvania first crack at state government jobs.

The Senate Monday approved the measure by a 46-0 vote. It would bar appointment of out-of-state candidates for state jobs unless the appointing power—the administration—could show that "no resident of the Commonwealth who is qualified for the position is available."

In appointing non-residents to cabinet posts and similar jobs, the governor would be required to certify that he has "made every effort" to obtain the services of a state resident and was unsuccessful.

The bill was the result of differences between Gov. George M. Leader and Democratic senators early in the session when he nominated William A. Batt Jr., an Ohioan, asstatelaboraaa etaoi Ohioan, as state labor annnnnn se ntrynnnnne taoin shrdlu cmfwyc try secretary, and Dr. Merritt A. Williamson, o fNew Hampshire, as acting chairman of the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission.

'Not Been Informed'

After both men were confirmed to the posts by the Senate, Sen. Joseph J. Yosko (D-Northa pton), charged that the lawmakers had not been informed that the appointees had come from out-of-state. Yosko promised to "go along with no more carpetbaggers" put up by the administration for high level state jobs.

When he introduced the measure, co-sponsored by Republican Floor Leader Rowland B. Mahany (Crawford), Yoosko said: "I hope this goes down in state history as the anti-carpetbagger bill."

Although the official vote on passage was 46-0, Sen. Harry E. Seyler (D-York) asked that he be noted in the Senate record as opposed to the bill. He said that in taking the roll call vote the reading clerk erred in marking him in favor of passage.
